Star Wars and Gundam are two of the most popular science fiction franchises of all time. They both feature epic space battles, complex characters, and thought-provoking themes. However, there are also some key differences between the two franchises.

One of the main differences between Star Wars and Gundam is their tone. Star Wars is a more lighthearted and optimistic franchise, while Gundam is a more dark and gritty one. This is reflected in the characters, the plot, and the overall atmosphere of the two franchises.
